THE DUX CERTIFIED STANDARD

A hotel earns the distinction of being DUX Certified by meeting one uncompromising requirement: every bed, in every room, is a DUX bed. This standard ensures a consistent sleep experience throughout the entire property, no exceptions, no compromises.

For guests, DUX Certification is a promise of exceptional comfort and restorative rest, night after night. It reflects a hotel's commitment to the highest standards of craftsmanship, performance, and wellbeing, aligning world-class hospitality with the art of sleep.

When you see the DUX Certified designation, you can be confident that superior sleep is not a feature, it is the foundation.

The Audo

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK

As former CEO and founder of MENU, Bjarne Hansen took on a new venture with a strong vision to connect kindred spirits from across the globe, through this new space concept, The Audo. With a clear idea in mind, he brought together creative individuals and began the journey to manifest his dream together with Norm Architects and Nathan Williams from Kinfolk.

The Audo opened in Copenhagen in 2019, facilitating and celebrating human interaction and connection, as well as artistic expression. The name, Audo, is an abbreviation of the Latin phrase "Ab Uno Disce Omnes." This means "from one, learn all", defining the space as a place for people to share ideas, experiences and knowledge. The Audo is a meeting place where the international art and design community can come together, collaborate, experiment, and incorporate the inspiration they find into a unique story that they can then share with the world.

Pater Noster Hotel

HAMNESKÄR, SWEDEN

Perched on one of Sweden's most windswept and remote islands, Pater Noster, the crown jewel of lighthouses, has guided seafarers safely for over a century. Beside it, the lighthouse keepers and their families carved out a home, creating a small, resilient community where life was dictated by the rhythms of the sea.

Today, the doors of the lighthouse master's residence have reopened, reimagined as a destination for the public. It is a sanctuary for travellers near and far, for nature lovers, epicureans, and those seeking either solitude or conviviality. Here, where the light shines brightest and the wind blows wildest, the ocean is more vivid, the air more exhilarating, and the seafood impossibly fresh - an extraordinary experience at the edge of the world.

Hotel St. George

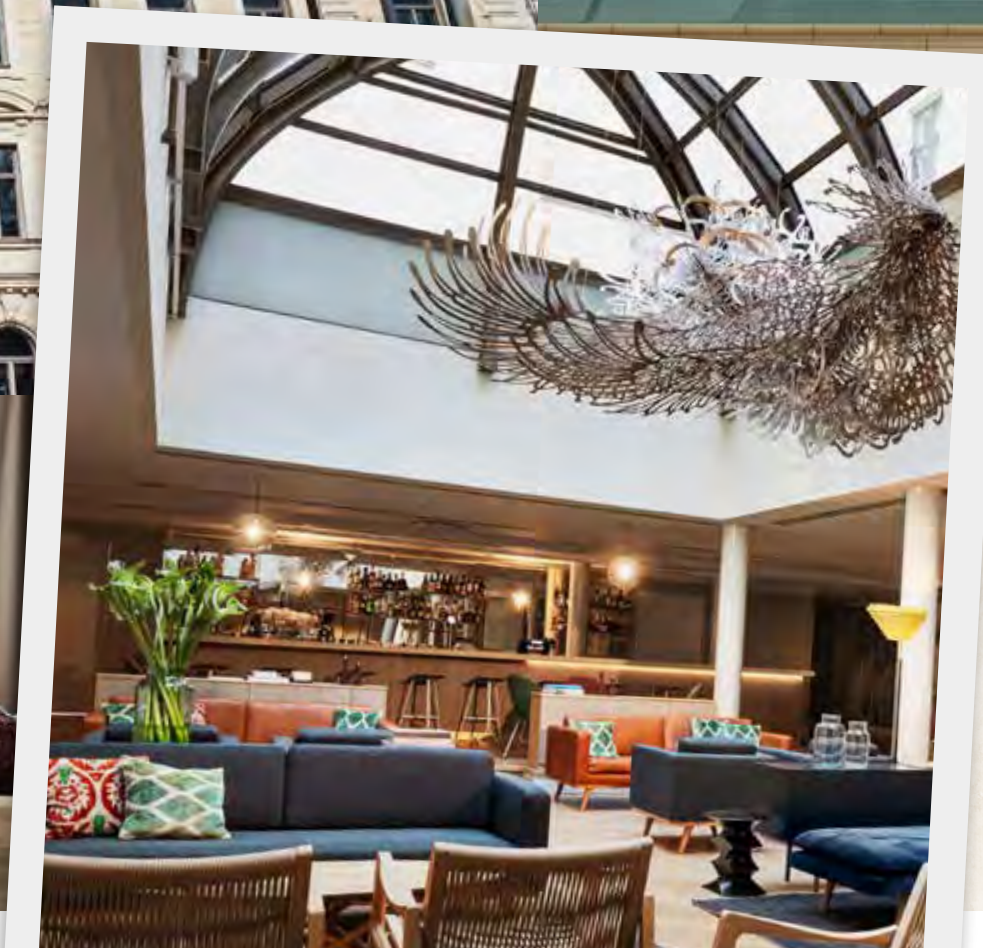

HELSINKI, FINLAND

Hotel St. George is a living testament to Helsinki's cultural and architectural heritage. Its earliest foundations trace back to the 1840s, while its most celebrated chapter took form in 1890 with the completion of the iconic wing designed by architect Onni Tarjanne, later renowned for the Finnish National Theatre, completed in 1902.

Over the decades, the address at Yrjönkatu 13 has served as a gathering place for influential institutions and ideas. It has housed the Finnish Literature Society (SKS), the printing house of Finland's first newspaper Suometar, and the Helsinki Finnish Club. These layers of history and intellect have been carefully woven into the hotel's interior narrative, where past and present exist in thoughtful dialogue.

Within this magnificent historic setting, 10,000 square metres unfold across seven floors, accommodating 148 elegantly appointed rooms and five refined suites. Every space is designed for restorative comfort, each featuring a DUX bed, ensuring that the legacy of the building is matched by contemporary standards of understated luxury.

Hotel Biaclyn Hakodate

HOKKAIDO, JAPAN

This historic building, which once welcomed distinguished guests as the former Russian Consulate, located on Funami-cho Kozaka, is said to have been named for its view overlooking the ships of Hakodate Port. Built by Imperial Russia more than 100 years ago, it is the only surviving historical building of its kind in Japan. Along with the renovation of this building, a new wellness wing has been added. The hotel has been reborn as an unparalleled establishment with six all-suite rooms, each equipped with a private sauna, and where guests can enjoy the finest cuisine unique to Hokkaido. Stepping from the entrance, which retains traces of its former glory, into the elegant main dining room, the view of the port spread out before you through the glass windows further enhances the sense of wanderlust.

Hôtel De L'alpage

NAGANO, JAPAN

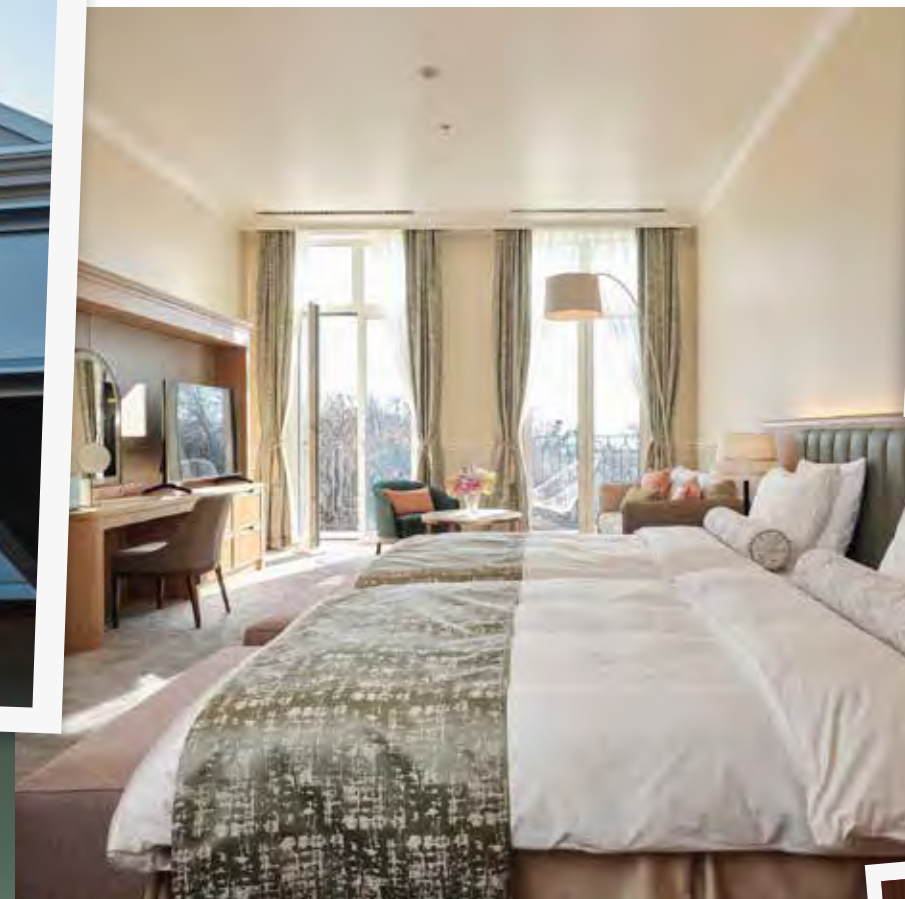

L'ALPAGE, meaning "summer highland meadow" in the French Alpine dialect, reflects a sense of calm set within the natural beauty of the Tateshina Highlands.

Inspired by the character of a traditional French mansion, the architecture features high ceilings, solid walls, and tall vertical windows that invite natural light throughout. Warm tones and thoughtfully placed artwork create a quiet, residential feel.

Rather than applying decorative details, the building has been carefully designed to echo the proportions and presence of a French residence, while remaining attuned to the Japanese climate..

The hotel's design, with its high ceilings, solid walls, large, vertical windows that let in plenty of light, gentle and warm colors, and paintings of various sizes on the walls, is reminiscent of a French mansion. Rather than simply adding French details to a Japanese building, we aimed to create a building that is as close to a French mansion as possible, while also adapting to the realities of the Japanese climate.

An aerial photograph of the Dubai skyline, with several skyscrapers rising from a thick layer of white clouds. The Burj Khalifa is the most prominent building in the foreground on the right. The sky above the clouds is a soft, hazy orange and yellow, suggesting a sunrise or sunset. In the center of the image, the word "DUXIANA" is written in a serif font, followed by a registered trademark symbol. To the right of the text is a vertical line, and then a circular logo. The logo features a stylized airplane icon in the center, with the words "THE DUX" curved along the top inner edge and "TRAVELLER" curved along the bottom inner edge.
